Education has always been important to our values. Our three kids attended the public school system in Contra Costa and we've seen firsthand the wide opportunity gap that exists between schools. We wanted to support communities with fewer resources and opportunities.

10,000 Degrees stood out because it doesn't just provide scholarships, it surrounds students with wraparound support—from navigating financial aid to helping them graduate and launch careers. It's personal, long term, and incredibly impactful.

We both come from modest backgrounds and know what it's like to build a life through education. Supporting 10,000 Degrees is not only meaningful, it's urgent. In a time of shrinking government support, the need has never been greater.

We're proud to be part of this community and excited to see how many more lives will be changed in the years to come.

As a first-generation college student and community college transfer student, my journey through higher education was far from easy. College was the first space where I could finally breathe, focus on myself and build a future beyond the limitations of my upbringing. That transformative experience and witnessing how 10,000 Degrees supported students, like my friend and colleague Tania, ultimately led me to join the organization.

One of the most rewarding parts of my work has been witnessing students evolve, from high schoolers to professionals, giving back to their communities. I've been lucky to help scale our mission in new regions, building partnerships that expand access and opportunity. I've also learned from students' resilience, drive, and selflessness—they inspire me everyday.

Angela: 10,000 Degrees Board & Contra Costa Advisory Board Member

Growing up in North Carolina's Research Triangle, where learning and innovation were integral to the community's DNA, I witnessed firsthand how education could open doors, shape futures, and uplift entire communities. Surrounded by universities that anchored the region, I developed an early appreciation for the role education plays in creating opportunity. As my career progressed, I became increasingly aware of the numerous talented students from underserved backgrounds who lacked access to the guidance and support necessary to reach their full potential.

That understanding is what drew me to 10,000 Degrees. What resonates most with me is how the organization combines financial support with long-term, hands-on guidance—helping students from high school through college and into their careers. It's a model that truly meets students where they are and walks beside them every step of the way.

I am inspired by the growing network of alumni who return as mentors, board members, and advocates, creating a powerful and sustainable cycle of opportunity that strengthens both our students and the communities we serve. And I am also grateful for the dedicated staff whose passion and commitment make this mission possible every day.

My journey to and through college was anything but straightforward. As a first-generation college student, I had little guidance and spent several years at a community college unsure of what I was doing. After earning two associate degrees, I eventually transferred to Sonoma State University, and am very proud to be the first in my family to earn a bachelor's degree.

Working for 10,000 Degrees has been incredibly rewarding—hearing from students who share how much we have helped them reminds me of why this work matters. And even though I work behind the scenes, the impact is clear. What makes 10,000 Degrees unique is our holistic approach, we don't just hand students a scholarship and walk away. We support them with everything from financial aid and class registration to job preparation and career guidance.

Generous Supporters & Donors Since 2018 Ellie: San Francisco Advisory Board Member

I joined the 10,000 Degrees Advisory Board in 2018 because I deeply connect with the students we serve. I understand the transformative power of education and the obstacles many face. Education changed my life; it provided career prospects, networking skills, and opportunities that changed my life's trajectory. It also gave me confidence and the tools to think critically, to communicate effectively and efficiently, and to lead with purpose.

My career in financial services has shown me how education opens doors not just to jobs, but to leadership and innovation, creating ripple effects that uplift entire communities for generations. Every graduate becomes a role model, proving that success is possible regardless of one's starting point.

10,000 Degrees understands that getting to college is only half the battle. Persisting and thriving is where many students need the most support. That's where 10,000 Degrees shines: they provide a lifelong network of mentors and champions, wraparound support, resources, and a belief in every student's potential—all vital for students to succeed in college and life.

The most rewarding part of my involvement is my ability to give back now. I see the unlimited potential in our students, who bring the diverse perspectives and experiences our workplaces desperately need.

It excites me to know that somewhere in our program right now is the next CEO, a future breakthrough scientist, or tomorrow's leader who will transform their industry and their community. They are creating a future that I'm proud to invest in.

As a first-generation college graduate and proud 10,000 Degree alum, my journey has come full circle. With support and guidance, I found the confidence to pursue college and graduate. My experience, which included studying abroad in Denmark, opened my eyes to the importance of cultural perspective and solidified my passion for educational equity.

Now, as an Access Fellow, I have the privilege of supporting students like me who are navigating the higher education system. Working with students from all ages and backgrounds, I've learned that empathy and representation truly matter.

Being a multilingual Latino and product of the very system I now serve allows me to connect authentically with students. I'm inspired by the long-term impact we're making creating space for diverse voices in fields where they've long been absent.

Sal working with a 10,000 Degrees student

I believe education is powerful because it quiets fear and inspires action. I'm living proof that when students are supported, they succeed and come back to lift others up.

Generous Supporter & Donor Since 2023 Napa Advisory Board Member

I am so happy to be a part of the 10,000 Degrees Napa Advisory Board. I was drawn to this organization because of its unique approach to supporting underserved students. Unlike other organizations that only offer scholarships, 10,000 Degrees provides continuous support throughout their education, career, and beyond, even assisting with job searches. This hand-in-hand guidance until students reach their full potential is truly what sets 10,000 Degrees apart, and it was a dream of mine to be part of an organization that goes this far.

I've been deeply impacted by the stories of students like Osvaldo, who became a bilingual doctor at Kaiser, helping families who, like his own, once struggled with language barriers at appointments. Without the help of 10,000 Degrees, that student probably would find it very hard for him to follow his dream, because to become a doctor is expensive. And Cynthia Cisneros, who now owns her own very successful business, La Cheve Bakery & Brews, and continues to give back to the community. These stories highlight the critical need for organizations like 10,000 Degrees.

The most rewarding part of my involvement has been the outreach to high school students, providing them with essential tools for financial management, budgeting, and scholarship applications. Looking ahead, I'm excited about the possibility of expanding our reach to more students, equipping even younger students with the tools and inspiration for higher education, ensuring a richer and safer future for our community.

I believe in the power of education because it brings professionals back to the community, many of whom later become the leaders we need.

Jeremy Wenner

Generous Supporters & Donors Since 2023 Jeremy: 10,000 Degrees Board Member

I first got involved with 10,000 Degrees while working at First Republic Bank, a proud corporate partner. During the pandemic, I was a career mentor working with Ada, a bright college student navigating graduation during uncertain times. It's incredibly rewarding mentoring students and helping them break into competitive industries. I love serving as a sounding board, sharing advice and seeing mentees grow into confident professionals.

10,000 Degrees is unique because of its people—the passionate, thoughtful and committed leadership, staff, and volunteers. It's not just about scholarships; it's about long-term investment in students' success from college access to career readiness.

There's so much room to grow, and I'm excited to help it reach even more students and families across the Bay Area and beyond.

Jeremy & Heather Wenner

Even after decades of impact, it feels like 10,000 Degrees is just getting started.

Director of Institutional Advancement
Joined as a Staff Member in 2015
San Francisco State University, M.A., 2025,
University of California, Santa Cruz, B.A., 2015

I received a 10,000 Degrees scholarship in college that came with life-changing support. During a low point in my sophomore year, a call from Scott, a Program Manager, kept me from walking away from school entirely. That personal touch inspired me to join the organization as a college advisor and later as a Fellow, seeing it as the next step in my journey towards a career in education.

10,000 Degrees stands out because we guide, support, and empower students to choose their own path, while honoring their lived experiences and families. As a staff member, I've learned from countless students, especially about perseverance.

I'm excited for our future, to expand our model, reach more communities and continue transforming lives through access, opportunity and connection.

I believe in the power of education because it changed the course of my life. I never imagined I'd stay in one organization for a decade, but 10,000 Degrees continually offered space for me to grow and lead.

Frank Perez

Generous Supporter & Donor Since 2024 Peninsula & South Bay Advisory Board Member

I joined the 10,000 Degrees Advisory Board after attending the Alumni Changemakers event, which deeply resonated with me. Hearing the students share their stories took me through a wide range of emotions but ultimately left me feeling inspired and energized to get involved.

Expanding educational access for under-resourced students is deeply personal to me because my own path reflects many of the same challenges they face. As the child of immigrants, I had to find my own way through college from applications to graduation without the guidance many others take for granted. Those experiences shaped my view that education is a path to empowerment, one that levels the playing field and builds opportunity, confidence, and resilience.

What sets 10,000 Degrees apart is its holistic support for students. I am inspired by the passion of the staff and the alumni who return to help others succeed, creating a powerful cycle of mentorship and impact. I also value that the organization celebrates diverse pathways to success, highlighting authentic stories of perseverance and purpose.

The most rewarding part of my involvement has been witnessing the real difference 10,000 Degrees makes in students' lives and experiencing the dedication of the exceptional team behind it.

10,000 DEGREES ACADEMIC SUCCESS

Thank you for being ONE DEGREE of change!

10,000 Degrees Academic Success volunteers tutor students in 22 high-need Marin County public school classrooms. They provide academic tutoring, classroom support, and homework assistance.

Our corps of nearly 130 volunteers provides 4,000+ hours of tutoring to more than 1,000 students each year. They help students one-on-one, in small groups, and as classroom aides, allowing for differentiated instruction across the classroom. They also provide valued support for other 10,000 Degrees program events such as Money Matters: Budgeting for College workshops and college essay writing workshops.

We appreciate all that our dedicated volunteers and partnering schools do to bring the 10,000 Degrees Academic Success program to Marin County students!

Interested in becoming an Academic Success volunteer?

Join a group of passionate volunteer tutors making a difference in Marin County Schools! Volunteers typically spend two hours a week tutoring students in a classroom setting.
